

ABSTRACT

A hidden LCD device suitable for a vehicle comprises a head rest having a narrow receiving space extending from a side thereof; a gear track is disposed at a lower side of said narrow receiving space of the head rest; a LCD panel is connected to a motor so that the LCD panel can be moved in or out of the narrow receiving space and can be positioned between two head rests so that passengers inside said vehicle can watch entertainment programs displayed on the LCD panel.